

Digital communication and publishing coach

Are you a communications officer, project officer, manager or team leader who needs help with the digital communication strategy of your organisation?

Amanda Greenslade trains and coaches people in Brisbane on digital communication, including:

- publishing books and ebooks
- social media marketing
- email etiquette, best-practice and marketing
- copyright
- writing, editing, graphic design
- website management
- project management, workflows and outsourcing

Suitable for 1-6 people

"I enjoy working with people who have something unique to say and need help learning how to publish their message in a productive manner."

Available in Brisbane

Amanda is available to coach you or your team in Brisbane now. Each training session needs to commence any time from 9.30am to 2.00pm 7 days a week as they run for a minimum of 2 hours with a 15 minute break. Prices include preparation, travel time, set-up, pack-down and a follow-up report.

Contact us for more details or to book:-

2 HRs $490+GST

Mobile 0403 124 533

4 HRs $630+GST

Email amanda@greensladecreations.com

About Amanda

Amanda has published more than 500 books, including 80 in print. She completed a Bachelor of Communication majoring in writing and screen production at Griffith University in 2003. The Managing Director of Australian eBook Publisher, a self-publishing service, Amanda is a multi-skilled communicator and designer. She has knowledge and experience in writing, editing, publishing, graphic design, book layout, web design and marketing.

